IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cynergy Data and Déjavoo Systems cooperate to develop the future of processing.

April 10, 2008 -- New York. In looking to the future of payment processing—and merchant services in general—Cynergy Data and Déjavoo Systems are cooperating to develop cutting-edge solutions that will be introduced later this year.

With more than a decade of building advanced technology under its belt, Cynergy Data sought to join forces with another forward-thinking company. Déjavoo Systems, with its focus on innovative and value-added services, offered a natural opportunity for co-development toward "next step POS" for ISO's. The two companies aim to define the future of payment processing.

"The future is very bright here," said Michael Grossman, Executive Vice President of Business Development for Cynergy Data. "We're creating solutions that will boost bottom lines for our sales partners and our merchants."

Mony Zenou, Founder and CEO of Déjavoo Systems, agrees. He refers to the collaboration as "a complimentary synergy of vision and technical capabilities."
